About Peter Clements

Peter is a partner in our London tax practice and acts for financial institutions, investment funds and corporate groups across a variety of business sectors.

Advising on a broad range of commercial transactions, Peter specialises in corporate tax and corporate tax planning, with a particular emphasis corporate restructurings, cross-border transactions (including equity and debt issuances and refinancings) and public and private M&A. He also advises on tax disputes and litigation.

Peter's strong international practice is increasingly focused on investors in emerging markets, in particular in Africa, China and southeast Asia.
